

Notification

This is to caution the general public that there is a scam email circulation on the internet, which states that the recipient has won lottery, gifts and other tempting prizes and the email uses the name of the Royal Monetary Authority (RMA) to deceive the recipients to make it authentic. As a result, some Bhutanese have lost huge sum of money to these scams without gaining anything in return except physiological, financial and family problems.

Therefore, the RMA would like to caution the public against entertaining any kind of offers through scam emails and other communication channels. In case of any clarifications, contact RMA at 321204.
